The Lord Fairfax Community College (LFCC) Educational Foundation Board is comprised of individuals who represent the College’s service region. These individuals bring with them expertise from a wide range of professions and backgrounds. What they have in common is a love for education and the desire to further LFCC’s mission. Following is a glimpse of what makes serving on the Foundation Board meaningful and rewarding.

“When I look in the mirror every night, I feel good about my service on the LFCC Educational Foundation Board, because…”

“…I am committed to giving back to the College in order to provide the same life-changing opportunity I experienced for all who desire to attend. I enrolled at LFCC as an uneducated, single mom in my late 30s. The education and self-confidence I received, in the wonderfully supportive atmosphere with the personal attention of the professors, allowed me to become a self-confident, professional, productive member of the community.”

—Diane E. Lewin, Treasurer of the Board; Retired Certified Public Accountant, representing the City of Winchester

“…I am helping others to obtain a good education and move on with their lives.”

—Providence J. LoPresti, Library Specialist, LFCC, representing Frederick County

“…I know that the money that individuals donate is used to help students receive a high-quality education. As an alumna of LFCC, I am proud to tell anyone who will listen to me about the excellent education I received, the professors who provided superb instruction, the friends I made, the activities I participated in and the enriching moments I had as a student. I’m proud of the work of the Foundation Board, because it enables students to have an opportunity for a better future.”

—Heather A. Painter, Outreach Counselor, LFCC, representing Shenandoah County

“…I feel as though I am helping the students economically through securing scholarships for those who otherwise would not have an opportunity to attend college. I feel honored that LFCC has the confidence in me to help achieve their goals as far as securing scholarships and other donations.”

—Mark E. Pangle, Owner, Pangle Real Estate and Auction Company, representing Shenandoah County

“…today, I may have provided an opportunity to someone who would have otherwise missed out on a chance to better themselves.”

—William J. Nordman, Real Estate Broker, Historic Properties Inc., representing Clarke County

“…I’ve been associated with the College for 27 years—two years as a full-time student and 25 as a faculty member—and this gives me the opportunity to…”

While serving on the Fauquier Chamber of Commerce, Bob Sowder and other community leaders were working to open a college center in Warrenton. The problem they faced was a lack of adequate facilities to house such an institution. The search was on to find someone who could afford to donate land or a facility to Lord Fairfax Community College (LFCC) to expand into Fauquier County.

Sowder didn’t immediately think about donating his farm, but one day when he was selling alfalfa, he looked at his barn in a different light. He noticed that each of the stalls had a door on it and was a nice size room. He grabbed a tape measure and found the dimensions of the barn to be 60 x 100, making six nice size rooms.

At the next chamber meeting, Sowder proposed the gift of his barn and an interest-free loan of $90,000 for renovations. After further discussions and consultation with his accountant, Sowder later decided to give the College both the property and money. So in 1988, Sowder donated his barn to LFCC and began working to renovate the building. After pouring his time, energy and money into the renovation of the space, it was completed in 1988 and appraised at $437,000, including the three and a half acres accompanying the gift of the barn.

Sowder negotiated for, and the College was given, 50 more acres when he sold the remainder of his farm to Fauquier County after the county threatened to take the property for public use. Following these negotiations and the additional land given to LFCC, in 1996, after much advocacy, the Virginia General Assembly appropriated $7.2 million to construct the current 60,000 square-foot classroom and administrative building on the Fauquier Campus. Celebration of the opening of the new campus building occurred three years later in 1999.

“LFCC is one of the best ways for students to obtain an education and adjust to the rigors of college,” Sowder said. “I’ve always felt that an education is a way to help people pull themselves up by their boot straps.”

Sowder has continued to monetarily support LFCC throughout the years, including the development of the Bob G. Sowder Scholarship. “I believe that you get so much more than you give,” Sowder said. “I meet parents and students who have benefited from the scholarship I established, allowing them to get an education when they might not have been able to otherwise. To have someone come up to you on the street, put their arm around you and thank you for your gift—you can’t get much better than that.”

Semi retired from his career as a Realtor, Sowder is president of The Sowder Co. Inc. in Warrenton and maintains ownership of a number of farms and commercial and rental properties. He also breeds and raises thoroughbred horses.

Without Sowder’s vision and generous donations, LFCC would not be the institution it is today. “My goal in life is to give back. Every little bit can have an impact.”
Diane Peer Beidler wishes that Lord Fairfax Community College (LFCC) had been around when she graduated from high school in 1958. Unfortunately, it wasn’t, and college was not an option for Mrs. Beidler due to the cost of tuition. Although she never pursued a degree, Mrs. Beidler has taken a number of college courses over the years, including a few courses at the community college near her winter home in Sebring, Fla.

“One of the ways that I think a community can grow is by offering the young people the means to obtain an education,” Mrs. Beidler said. “As tuition increases, students, especially those from lower-income families, need assistance to get out there and get an education.”

It is this philosophy that motivated her to establish a scholarship through the LFCC Educational Foundation in 2006 in memory of her husband. “My husband and I wanted to help students who needed financial support. Starting a scholarship fund was a great way to provide that support.”

The Fred B. Beidler Endowed Scholarship is awarded annually to LFCC students who live in Shenandoah County to assist with tuition, fees and/or books. The scholarship is a tribute to the life of Mr. Beidler and his support of the Shenandoah Valley area as a lifetime resident and local business owner. Mrs. Beidler also notes that the scholarship is a way to give back to the community that supported her and her husband while they were in business.

Born in Woodstock, Va., on July 18, 1914, Fred Beidler graduated from Woodstock High School in 1932 and attended Massanutten Military Academy. After completing his schooling, Mr. Beidler worked at various businesses, including Wender’s Department Store in Woodstock for 12 years. In 1945, with the help of his family, Mr. Beidler started Beidler’s Furniture Store, a major appliance and furniture store, which he operated successfully for 28 years.

He married the former Diane Peer on June 15, 1963. Mrs. Beidler worked alongside her husband in the furniture store until 1973, when they retired and sold the business to the Cline family, which still operates the store under the same name. One year later, the couple became snowbirds, staying in Florida during the winter months and living in the Shenandoah Valley during the remainder of the year.

Mr. and Mrs. Beidler enjoyed traveling together throughout the United States, Canada, Europe and the Caribbean until Mr. Beidler passed away on April 14, 2005. Mrs. Beidler continues to enjoy traveling, golfing, reading and playing bridge. She is currently planning a trip to Australia and New Zealand this fall.

LFCC employee and retiree giving exceeded $29,900 during fiscal year 2006, with the average contribution being more than $360 per donor.

The Foundation celebrated a 175-percent increase in giving by LFCC employees and retirees during 2006.

The Foundation had 139 new donors during fiscal year 2006.
Theresa Cowne, a wife and mother of two teenagers, is also a licensed practical nurse (LPN) and LFCC student. After working for 14 years as a LPN in a pediatric doctor’s office, Cowne made the decision to become a student and pursue her associate’s degree in nursing. As a student, Cowne had to cut back at work and even with her husband increasing his work schedule, the family’s budget was tight.

“The faculty and my fellow classmates have been wonderful as I transitioned back into the role of ‘student.’ I am looking forward to my last semesters as I obtain my associate’s degree from LFCC,” said Cowne, a 2006-07 scholarship recipient.

“This scholarship is much appreciated, as it will help me reach my goal! Thank you again for this generous gift.”

A number of special events took place in 2006 to recognize LFCC donors and share information with individuals about the College and its funding needs.

- In March 2006, the College hosted the 2006 Appreciation Dinner. This event provided LFCC with an opportunity to celebrate the numerous relationships the College maintains with individuals, businesses, civic organizations and governmental and educational institutions.

- In April 2006, Alan and Margaret Toxopeus invited friends and supporters of LFCC to join them for a reception at their home for an update on the College from LFCC President John J. “Ski” Sygielski.

- In May and October 2006, the Foundation partnered with Hoss’s Family Steak and Sea House to raise money for the John J. “Ski” Sygielski Scholarship and the Anne Legge Literary Fund. Dozens of LFCC employees, friends, families and other supporters joined together for these fundraising dinners and raised over $300.

- In May 2006, LFCC hosted a luncheon for the Costello family in recognition of the establishment of the Lewis M. Costello Endowed Forensics Scholarship. Lewis M. Costello was a strong supporter of LFCC, believing that education was the key to good citizenship. His wife, Joy Hollar Costello, established the scholarship in his memory to encourage LFCC forensics students to develop their public speaking and communication skills.
Dan Rogers II is pursuing a degree in business administration from LFCC with plans to transfer to a four-year institution to complete a bachelor's degree. In addition to pursuing his education, Rogers volunteers for Christian Freedom International, a nonprofit relief organization, and serves as a math tutor and teaching assistant at LFCC.

“My objective in attending LFCC is to better my life by increasing my knowledge, broadening my career opportunities and developing skills that will help me serve my community,” Rogers said. As a 2006-07 scholarship recipient, Rogers is able to continue his education as a full-time student.

A Winchester native, Carolyn Glaize enrolled at LFCC the year it opened and graduated in June 1976. After 37 years of government service, Glaize retired in 2000. Glaize credits LFCC with the success she enjoyed as a top-ranking government official.
Helen Keller once said, “When we do the best that we can, we never know what miracle is wrought in our life or in the life of another.” Donors that contribute to the LFCC Educational Foundation realize the power of potential that exists in every LFCC student. The financial support they provide furthers the mission of the College and touches the lives of students.

This section provides donors with a glimpse of their gifts at work—how their gifts have impacted the College and its students and employees.

In fact, my funds for this semester were so low that I could only attend part-time classes.”

Huttner finds it a challenge to juggle work, school and family time without neglecting any one aspect of his life. As a 2006-07 scholarship recipient, Huttner is very appreciative of LFCC’s scholarship program. “The generosity of this scholarship will make a profound impact on my life, and I am truly grateful to receive it.
